The energy and the excitement the students displayed in taking part and in sharing their ideas based on Sticky Situations were amazing. The students were asked to come up with a Problem, they were asked what would be the next step, one of the students stated "we need a *Plan" and another student stated "we need a *Solution." WOW! As teachers we were extremely impressed by their high order thinking and responses. This task complimented the e5 instructional model, where all students were engaged, they explored various problems/plans and solutions and they explained their reasons behind their thoughts. The students further elaborated on their reasons behind their thoughts, searching for the appropriate solutions. The students evaluated their responses and as a class they all came to an agreement with each solution. Learnable Intelligence and Growth Mindset in action!
